+ Pastor Anne ~ Yes, with God's help!

Grace and peace to you.

Yes, with God's help to guide me.

We have had so many great responses following the congregational meeting where my call was voted on and we want to give a great big "thank you" right back! Trevor, Nate and I are very happy to be with you at Trinity and am very happy to be on the ministry team.

As I considered the letter of call, a phrase that our confirmation youth utter every year came to mind. In fact, I've said those same words in other venues in liturgies including an affirmation of baptism. Our young people say "Yes, with God's help to guide me." as a response to the questions offered in the confirmation service.

When I was ordained, I was asked a series of questions to which I responded "I will, and I ask God to help me." When I was ordained, I was invited to preach the Gospel, to preside at the sacraments, and to teach and love God's people. When I said "yes", I said yes with God's help. I'm not in this alone. I have been called by God through God's people and do my work with God's help and your support. So, I'm excited to jump back into the business of being a pastor, here, at Trinity. I am looking forward to working with André and Jill and Gywin and Brian and with all who make ministry happen as we walk with all of God's people in our Faithful Journey.

We all have the same opportunity to say "yes, with God's help" in our continuing journey together. That's what excites me! For you, saying yes may involve visiting a neighbour, doing or supporting the work of a committee or task group, taking some quiet time with God, or playing a game with your family. There are so many ways in which to say "yes" and to look for God's help in doing so!

I look forward to what the next five years will bring: time to grow in our Faith Adventures and stewardship programs, to experience our unfolding anniversary celebrations and much, much more!

You will see Trevor around town more as he and Nate spend some great quality time together. Trevor is taking parental leave from his job and will assume some primary care-giver duties. Please be sure to say "hi" when you see Trevor & Nate on their walk around town!

I look forward to our ongoing Faithful Journey together.

+ Pastor André ~ Working Ahead

Grace and peace to you.

Recently, as a result of a cancellation, the date for my knee-replacement surgery was advanced to August 27. I had not wanted to proceed until Pr. Anne's leave was completed but things have moved more quickly than I had dared to hope. The waiting list is currently one year.

When I learned of the date, I conferred with Pastor Anne and Lori Arnott who notified Steve Aho and the Mutual Ministry Team. Together we made sure that the bases will be covered for Fall. Actually, we're in excellent shape!

Some of my ministry friends may have wondered why we were looking so far down the road. They have been very gracious and forbearing. Now they understand. In recent weeks, I've been working ahead wherever I could in anticipation of a medical leave whenever it came. Worship design, anniversary and stewardship initiatives, Faith in Film and Adult Learning, and various bits of web work, writing and course preparation are all in great shape well into this year and/or next. I have postponed some vacation to a better time and, while Bob Thaler will return for a September Sunday, we hope to be back to the usual crew before long!

It's great to have Pr. Anne back and to know that you value and support her ministry, our vision and our team with such wonderful enthusiasm. Wish me well. All blessings.

+ ELW Update

Trinity's ELW has been busy... 15 quilts were distributed to St. Monica House, the House of Friendship and the Wilmot Family Resource Centre.

A Prayer Shawl Seminar was attended at St. Louis Roman Catholic Church, Waterloo. There were 75 participants from as far away as Bobcageon. We shared ideas and experiences with groups from many denominations. The meeting was co-ordinated by KW Parish Nurse organization and will be hosted by St. Mark's, Kitchener, next Spring.

The K/W Conference ELW is exploring how we can best reach out to Camp Edgewood. Look for the ELW's 100 Mile Diet Lunch (details, facing page) in September.

✦ 100 Mile Diet Lunch

Please mark your calendar for September 20 and join our ELW for a special 100 Mile Diet lunch. A free-will offering will help to raise funds for kitchen equipment at Edgewood.

The lunch will take place at noon following our Faith Adventures and Adult Learning (second session of My Life as God's Steward, our wonderful fall stewardship series). Why not attend and then follow your nose downstairs for some great local food. Join in a sing song of campfire songs. Remember any of the old ones? Come on out and have a great lunch, enjoy the fun, and a few surprises.

Many hands make for light work. Could you help with set-up, food preparation, serving, or clean-up? Men, women, and youth are all welcome. Add your name to the sign up sheets in the narthex or contact Pat Schmetzer (519.634-8232) or Mildred Knackstedt (519.662-3739).

✦ Sabbath Blessing

We are grateful to Molly Wolff for her kindness in making the gentle voice of Sabbath Blessings available to a wide following in the electronic and print media.

Early in July, Barbara and I spent some time in Kingston visiting our daughter, Dayna. We attended a lovely craft fair upon which Molly reflects. —ARL

Craft Fair

It was a perfect day for the July craft fair: sunny and not very warm, with a breeze that kept the mosquitos at bay. (Being near a very large river helps.) I had friends with booths in the fair, and so I wandered over in the early afternoon, buying a hot dog for lunch and meandering around the park in front of our handsome town hall, observing and visiting and (with one exception) not shopping. My house already has more than enough dustable stuff in it; I don't need more.

The fair was a mildly uneasy mixture of stuff: attractive bags and purses, truly hideous burned-wood signs with not-so-clever sayings, one poetical watercolourist (very new to the game, and nervous), average hand-knits, lots of homemade jewelry, preserves, hand-made soaps, you name it. There were some truly lovely photography booths (hi, Bob!) and some finely wrought wood carvings. We're in a transitional period, my adopted town, one foot still in Church Bazaar Land, the other foot fumbling towards fine arts and true artisanal work, and the fair showed the wobble between two worlds, as the town itself wobbles between past and future.

But still, with the exception of a couple of (well, forgive me!) cheaters who were merely re-selling stuff they'd obviously bought, pretty much everything in the twenty-odd booths was made by some sort of creative process. True, tastes vary; stuff that was selling quite nicely (those burned-wood signs) isn't to my taste, as the poetical watercolours weren't to the taste of those who fancied the signs. But there was much creativity there present, some of it misplaced, much of it not.

It's a human drive, this creativity business. Probably most of it fails on a purely esthetic scale. Hunting through our local flea market later in the afternoon, I came across so many not-so-successful hand-painted pieces, lovingly mounted photographs, and other projects, the recipients of so much time and love and (at least sometimes) skill, that fetch up in —well, small-town flea markets. It's like considering the huge proportion of turtle eggs that do not result in adult breeding turtles.

But we have to put everything in perspective. There is a range in human creativity from the child's stick-figure picture, lovingly mounted on the fridge with magnets or scotch tape, to the very, very large and very, very excellent Rembrandt I once saw, donkey's years ago, in an exhibition of the Queen's pictures. There is everything from the massive beauty of Bach's Mass in B Minor to the astonishing elegance of "Shenandoah," and it all has its own imperfect truthfulness.

All the best beauty we can muster —the finest endeavours we can achieve— are nothing to God's perfection in Creation. Are nothing, and are everything. Our creativity, whether we know it or not, is the spirit's response to the Creation in which we live and move and have our being.

I am exceptionally lucky in living in a landscape that to me —bred up in landscapes of lush green and still silver and wintry charcoal-and-white— embodies the Creator in particular ways. Others, brought up in a landscape that makes me deeply uneasy, one of rocks and sands and starkness, find the Creator there in ways that I respect but cannot seem to share. Still others find a home in concrete canyons and the twist of superhighways. And that's all right, for this earth has room for all sorts, if we can let go of the need to be solely right in what matters.

But we respond to Creation and the Creator by creating, as best we can, in ways that we find important and meaningful. That, more than any esthetic, was what the fair was about. To me at least.

After a while, I went home (right across the footbridge over the river) and packed two of my own new pieces up, a fused-glass dish and a stained-glass piece of my own design, and took them back to the fair. I showed them to a few people and got words of approbation that will help me move forward. For praise is what Creation and creations need, and what the Creator desires of us.

+ Stewardship Task Group Update

We are grateful to the many, many individuals and families who have opened their homes for this fall's Faithful Journey Stewardship Program. They will host informal, in-home, cottage-style presentations given by a terrific team of dedicated folks.

All of the program materials —Invitation to Bible Study, Invitation to Ministry, etc.— required for our November program were created over the summer. These materials will be part of a Stewardship Kit to be offered to all participants. The materials will also be posted on Trinity's web-site. See the current issue of BUZZ for notes re the Task Group's summer endeavours.

+ Sanctuary Thanks

On June 28, our Sanctuary community organized a special sausage supper for the Jamaican guest workers from nearby Pfenning's Vegetable Farm. Our purpose was to welcome these people into our community and to share hospitality. Many from Trinity attended and very generously provided delicious food. Some people graciously sent food even though they were unable to attend.

We extend a special "thank you" to Papa Thom, who provided music for our service and during supper, and to Kathryn Ritz, who works at Pfenning's, knows the gentlemen and served as a bridge joining Trinity to our guests. We had a very pleasant evening and we say thanks again to all who participated in many, many meaningful ways. Sincere thanks from our Sanctuary community.

✦ June Council News

• On June 17, Council gathered for an up-beat meeting at which several people and congregational groups were thanked. Every month, Krista Durrer, our secretary, sends a number of thank-you notes to people named in the pastor's report, a continuing tradition for 25 years. This month, Maggie Racho & Team (Faith Adventures), Steve Aho & Team (Mutual Ministry), Betty Murray (flower beds), Sherry Coman (Faith in Film) were thanked.

• The Endowment Fund Committee plans to place Trinity's Endowment Fund assets with ELFEC — the Evangelical Lutheran Foundation of Eastern Canada. Trinity will be the first congregation to take advantage of this new possibility. (This action has now been completed and a major piece will appear in the October EASTERN SYNOD LUTHERAN about Trinity's leadership in this endeavour.)

• Three parallel motions commending the good work and affirming the direction of the Endowment Fund Committee and the Anniversary and Stewardship Task

Groups were passed. All three groups have been very busy this summer.

✦ Some Words of Thanks

We have a number of people to thank, this month. We extend a word of thanks to Betty Ritz for her many years of managing Trinity's ELW-supported Cradle Roll. This summer, Nancy Brodrecht took over and we are grateful to her for picking up the traces.

In June, Lotus Hammer began the process of moving to live with her daughter. For years, she has been the voice on the phone requesting funeral squares and notifying Funeral Lunch Team members of an upcoming funeral. Mim & Doug Miller will take over this role. We say "thanks" to all of you for your ministry!

Each week, communion bread —some made from wheat and some made from rice— appears in the narthex in time for Sanctuary worship. We are grateful to the Rhems!

We are grateful to Arlene Meyer and Deb & Brian Roth for their years of shepherding their respective neighbourhoods and to Hans & Joyce Lass who will take over from Arlene. We're still working on the Nithview Drive neighbourhood.

+ Nurturing Faith - Faith Adventures

Are you ready to activate your faith?

The Faith Adventures Team is thrilled to introduce an exciting, new faith education program called "Spark". This new program will be launched on September 13, Back-Pack Sunday, for our 2009 - 2010 Faith Adventures season. See the enclosed invitation!

We have Bibles... We have lift off!

In the Spring, we invited people to sponsor Bibles for our new Spark Faith Adventures program. With the assistance of a grant from Faith Life Financial, people have supplied 100 Bibles. Three different versions will be distributed to all children & youth, from birth through grade 8, at our Anchor Community worship on Back-Pack Sunday, September 13.

Affirmation Ministry for 2009-10

Our Affirmation Ministry days for our grade 3- 6 students will resume this fall and will include activities, food and fun. Grades 3 & 4 gather Friday, November 6, 9am-3pm. Grades 5 & 6 gather Friday, December 4, 9am-3pm.

Grade 7 and 8 Affirmation classes will take the form of four Saturday sessions starting in January, 2010. Look for full days of activities (9am-3pm) including lunch. Mark your calendars for January 16, February 6, March 6 and April 17.

Here are some dates for the grade 9's to keep in mind: Witness Preparation will take place on Saturday, October 3, 9-12 noon. The Witness Service will follow on October 25, at 9:30am. Finally, the Confirmation Service will unfold on Sunday, November 1, at 9:30am
